By the Fo mosa Shanghai dates to the 9th instant are at hand. The Shanghai Recorder A correspondent at Chinking writes to is under date of 7th instant, that on the 6th the Nianfoi approached within a very greatest excitement provailed in consequence. News arrived that they had eacked : Ision-nii-ming, about 17 miles from Chinking. and then started on their way to Yungchow, thout six miles north of which place an engagenent took place between them and the Imperimilists, which was first reported as a success to he Nienfei, but afterwards stated to have resuited in favour of the Imperialists; On the news reaching Chinking on the 6th, the sait This which lie on the Hunk of the River directly pposite that city, were ordered to anchor some ifteen miles up the river on the south side, but this order was next day countermanded. The latest news, is given by our correspondent as

The Nicofel have retired, about 190 li from here now to a place colled Tien-chang, so much of the panic has subsided. The junks therefore will remain berg. The rebels have taken a great deal of spoil in the simpe of opions, sycce and clothes. The engagement at Yan obow which book place yesterday morning is finally reported to have been a success for the Imperialisis, at any rate the robols retired. Their numbers have been very much overstated-and we shall perhaps shortly know that only a fow hundreds were engaged on this raid. However, the road from the north seems open for them. They will probably leave this country for a white, but there is no knowing when they will return. The soldiery, i.s. city-garrison, &c., such as they are, have been moving over to the north Bank, but Isbould judge from their appearance that they would be little or no ascif engaged with the robels. They were all variously armed with offensive weapons, but above all, every man carried his umbrolla as the weather is wet. In the Eccubic Express of the 8th we read:

- Per Osaka front Magastki, to-day, we learn that up to 8 r.m. Saturday fast, the bour of her departure, the Costa Bien had not arrived there. A rumor, which was apparently well autthenliested, was current, to the effect that Prince Toza's Admiral and two other high Offleers of that Daimio, had been assessingted, and if this proves correct, it was looked upon as the commencement of that civil war, which the proto posel opening of the ports has remigrad set imminent. The British schooner Belle left for New York with a full cargo of ten, on the 27th y ultimo, and on the 29th, the Fre-lang departed e for Hiogo, where it was expected she would n remain from two to three weeks. She must not is therefore be looked for bere again until the end s of the month, if then. The str. Whampon left ce for Hiogo on the 3 let. .

THE LATE GERMAN WAR.—The long looked for report of the Austrian War Office on the compaign of last year has appeared at last, moder the title of "The Struggles of Austria in the year 1866. Prepared in accordance with the documents issued during the Compaign by the Imperial Royal Office of the General Staff." The first volume only, conons of Langensalz, has as yet been published. The miost interesting portion of this volume is a memior by General Krismanic, dated April, 1866, describing the plan of openitions for the corps d'aruse of the North, of which the leading idea is that the Northern division of the Austrian army "mest of necessity keep on the defensive, however lamontable such necessity may be." There are also a map of the theatre ant of the war, another, showing the operations of the the Northern Army, a third illustrating the provements of the troops in Italy, a plan of the buttle of Langenenian, and fifteen appendices, showing the military strongth of the Proseinn and Austrian armies at various periods of the compaign, the navel strength of Italy and Austria, the position of the belligerents in March and Jane, and documents illustrative of the Hanoverian compaign. The preface of the work concludes to these words:-" It is are that the publication of this lank is some-The what premature; but it is necessary that it should be distributed among the troops as soon as possible, in order that they might learn and know once for all in what manner they attained at the same time both to a great triumph and high a great defeat."

COMMERCIAL INTELLIBENCE

Hougkong, Saturday Evening. There, has been no change in the Drug market to-day. The inquiry has been moderate, and sales of Patria effected at $6574 to $660 on rish and credit terms, and $6561 by the speenlabors on three weeks' time, to a smail extent. Some brokers go about bawking orders at low mittee, but as soon as a buyer is found the seller " him disappeared, and it opposes that these are the more eliticarry on such operations by cona small donstderation, such as perhaps $2.00 per chest.
